

HUMAN RESOURCES TALENT DEVELOPMENT

MILESTONE TOWARDS A BACHELOR'S DEGREE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Nearly all aspects of today's workplace lead back to the area of Human Resources, so it's more important than ever that best practices help build a positive environment for both employees and employers. Goodwin College's curriculum in Human Resources Talent Development is uniquely designed to benefit professionals currently working in the field, as well as individuals interested in pursuing a career as generalists in Human Resource Management.

This comprehensive program covers the fundamental concepts and theories of Talent Development, including best practices in hiring, compensation, employee relations, training, and professional development. Through your studies, you will hone your skills in measuring and strategizing employee retention and analyzing employee engagement.

Coursework includes: Introduction to Management, Human Resource Management, Employment Law and Benefits, Workforce Planning and Staffing, Organizational Supervision and Administrative Roles, and Talent Development and Performance Assessment.

Whatever your career goal, you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that you're contributing to the well-being of your colleagues and your organization. Credits earned in this program will be applied toward a bachelor's degree in Business Administration.
