Guidelines for One-to-One Courses

1. One-to-One courses should follow the same general syllabus as the regular course section, including assignments, projects, and examinations. Modifications may be permitted if a section of work is required. An alternative, but equally-weighted assignment may be substituted.
2. One-to-One courses are typically granted if a student is in his/her last 1-2 semesters and the required coursework is not being offered or pertinent course offerings are closed. Department Chairs/Program Directors are encouraged to allow appropriate course substitutions before granting One-to-One courses.
3. Students requesting One-to-One courses must receive approval by the Department Chair/Program Director under whose jurisdiction the coursework falls – not necessarily the student’s Department Chair/Program Director.
4. A maximum of twelve credits can be earned through One-to-One coursework.
5. Tuition for these courses is charged at the same rate as all other formal classroom work.
6. Students must complete this contract, including any modifications made below for individual course work.
 - a. A copy of this contact must be forwarded to the Registrar’s Office for the student’s file.
7. All paperwork must be completed and submitted before a grade and credit can be released for the course

If any assignments/projects were altered from the original syllabus, please note them here.
