

ASSOCIATE DEGREE IN HUMAN SERVICES

Travis Samuels, Human Services Graduate

LEND A HELPING HAND

Do you want to build a career that really matters? Now, more than ever, your compassion, commitment, and caring nature are needed in the rapidly growing Human Services field.

As a Human Service professional, you will provide a broad range of services to assist people in meeting basic human needs; enhance their quality of life; and address issues pertaining to human growth and development. You will have the tools to promote positive change in individuals, families, and communities and, by providing services and enhancing opportunities, assist them in overcoming challenges and barriers that they face in their daily lives.

Our associate degree in Human Services is based on national standards for Human Services education. It will provide you with the skills necessary to succeed in a wide variety of high-demand Human Service careers, and is designed to meet the needs of Human Service employers.

As part of your program, you will be exposed to internship opportunities — some which could lead to employment opportunities — as Goodwin is linked with over 500 Human Services agencies and organizations in the region.

You may choose to continue your studies in our bachelor's degree in Human Services.
